Death of Girl Accidental Says Kinney Counsel

Tells Jury Boy Used Pillow to Silence
Phyllis Stroud and Never Meant to Kill

Charles Kinney, charged with the murder of Phyllis Stroud on "V-J" night, had no intention of killing the girl, Herbert W. Davey, K.C., defence counsel, told the jury at the Fall Assizes yesterday.

Outlining his defence, Mr. Davey told how on the night of the tragedy the accused boy returned home early in the evening, and Phyllis came home at 11:25 p.m.

Phyllis had given Kinney some trinkets to make into a bracelet, and the accused, unable to do so, was intending to return them. Phyllis sat in the front room while he went to the kitchen to get the trinkets.

Returning he sat on the bed, and they began to talk of the events of "V-J" Day and other subjects. Finally the conversation turned to Kinney's parents, who were away at Halifax, where the father was stationed with the R.C.N. as a commissioned engineer.

Phyllis told Kinney that she missed her father more than his mother, and as the conversation went on the girl said: "Your mother is an old fool," Mr. Davey alleged.

The boy, who had a strong attachment to his mother, slapped Phyllis and pushed her on the bed, Mr. Davey continued.

Phyllis screamed. Hearing foot steps outside and fearing the father, uncle and sister, returning home, might attribute serious motives to him, he held a pillow over her face while the Stroud family came into the house and walked upstairs to their own apartment.

SAYS GIRL DEAD WHEN PILLOW REMOVED

He held the pillow over her face until she stopped shouting. When he removed it she was dead, Mr. Davey claimed.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times, London, by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Colonist.

(Copyright, 1945, by The Times Co.)

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The situation in Java, says The Times, is a correspondent there, goes from bad to worse. Hopes that a new group of Nationalist leaders in Batavia might reach some agreement with the Dutch, if only of an interim nature, have proved in vain. It is obvious that the leaders' authority hardly extends outside the room where they hold their Cabinet deliberations, and that Java is breaking up into a state of anarchy.

Chaos is spreading like wildfire, and renewed military efforts must be accompanied by renewed political efforts, the correspondent adds. It is obvious the next step would be to invite the United States to arbitrate or, if the United States is unwilling, to submit the Indonesian question to a council of Pacific powers.

Editorially, The Times says the manner in which the political deadlock in France is resolved is wholly to the credit of all concerned. Outstanding feature of the new combination is acceptance of office by leaders of the three major parties who enter the Government as ministers of state.

The decisive word rested with Communists, who met the crisis by acknowledging its necessities and entering the De Gaulle Government two days after voting against the general.

There is still the question of whether De Gaulle can give effective unity to a coalition composed of such diverse and mutually hostile elements, but there is reasonable ground for hoping that it will surmount the strains and stresses to which it will be subjected.

There is a possibility that France now has a Government stable enough to keep French policy on an even keel while the debate concerning the structure of the Fourth Republic takes its course.

Egypt in Persia are a disquieting reminder that tranquility of the East depends on a frank and friendly understanding between all the great powers," says The Times in another editorial.

Russia is suspicious of British policy in the Balkans and distrustful of the close understanding between the Anglo-Saxon powers on control of atomic energy, and within areas contiguous to her own territory she pursues her own security without regard to the views or sentiments of her Allies.

Canadian Vehicles Saved Harvests

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—

motor vehicles helped to save the harvests of Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland, Prime Minister Mackenzie King informed the Commons today in a report tabled on U.N.R.R.A. activities. In addition they helped get workers into the mines of those countries. The vehicles were "surplus to army requirements."

Eden Raps Russia on Iran Policy

Suspicion Naturally
Caused by Actions

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP).—Amid a hush, with Russian Ambassador Fyodor Gusev watching intently from the gallery, Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today he believed world peace depends on an understanding between the United Kingdom, the United States and Russia, but that it was not surprising that suspicions were raised when Russia acted as she had in Iran, where she prevented Iranian troops from proceeding to quell disturbances in Azerbaijan Province.

Mr. Eden said he could not reconcile this action with agreements made with Britain after Iran was occupied by British and Russian forces to open a pipeline for supplies to Russia during the war. He feared this was not the only time the Soviets refused the Iranians the right to move troops.

It should be clear that the arrangements made between Britain and her neighbors in Western Europe were no more aimed against Russia than Russian arrangements with Russia's neighbors were aimed at Britain.

"We want the fullest Russian participation in world affairs on equal terms," he added.

Explaining that Russia had "gone very far in making arrangements with all her neighbors," Mr. Eden told the House that the Russians were concerned over "a possible resurgence of German plans for domination of Europe."

"The Russians are not as convinced—as some people think—the Nazi spirit is entirely dead," he said.

Mr. Eden said, however, it was difficult to get information out of Russia and territories under Soviet control.

"I would beg our Russian friends," he said, "to believe that they could make no greater contribution to real understanding between our countries than to allow foreign correspondents in their territory or in territory under their control the same full freedom as is allowed Russian correspondents here."

Mr. Eden cheered.

"We have got to get to know each other better and that involves freedom to speak and to comment across frontiers. Drop those barriers of censorship and you will blow away in one gust much of those black fogs of suspicion."

Jap General To Surrender

TOKYO, Nov. 23 (Friday) (AP).—

Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, former war Premier, told The Associated Press he would surrender at Sugamo Prison today. He will be the third of the 11 war leaders whose arrest General MacArthur ordered early this week to give himself up at Sugamo.

A fourth, Baron Gen. Shigeru Honjo, committed hara kiri.

Koiso was Premier from July, 1944, when he succeeded Hideki Tojo, until April, 1945.

Adopted Chinese Get Into the R.A.F. Spirit

Since the British liberation of Hongkong, these two Chinese brothers, named Big Wings, 11 years old, and Little Wings, eight, have been adopted by the R.A.F. Spitfire squadron stationed at Kai Tak Airfield. The boys were adopted after they told how their father was killed by the Japanese and of their mother's illness. The mother is now under the care of the airfield's medical officer. Big Wings, complete with flying helmet, demonstrates to his younger brother how a Spitfire "peels off."

Attlee Warns House War Would End Civilization

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP).—A temperate House of Commons, partly antagonistic, today heard Prime Minister Clement Attlee warn that war must be prevented to save civilization from destruction by new weapons.

Another world war would mean destruction of cities, death to millions and the setting back of civilization "to an unimaginable extent."

2. Britain, Canada and the United States were ready to exchange fundamental knowledge of atomic energy for peaceful ends with any nation that reciprocates. "I ask the House to note the desire for full reciprocity," he added.

3. No international organization will avail unless the nations are resolved to lay aside war. In a warring world there could not be a set of "Queensberry" rules except to a limited degree and it might be expected that all weapons possible would be used.

4. Mr. Eden, who spoke with Winston Churchill at his side, said there should be a review of the veto powers granted to the various countries under the United Nations Charter in view of the atomic energy discoveries since the San Francisco World Security Conference. The nations should abate their present ideas of sovereignty as "every succeeding scientific discovery makes greater demands of old-time conceptions of sovereignty." All the House cheered this statement. Labor members as well as those on the Opposition benches.

5. Mr. Eden said first duty of the United Nations should be to begin working to "take the sting out of nationalism." The only final solution to make the world safe for atomic energy was that "we all abate our present ideas of world sovereignty."

6. The former Foreign Secretary added he wanted to see a world "where the relations between nations can be transformed in a given period of time as the relations between England, Scotland and Wales have been transformed."

Battle to Save Ontario Dykes

BATHAM, Ont., Nov. 22 (CP).—Farmers in the

As they labored, the worst Lake Erie storm in years threatened to smash Summer cottages and wash away vegetable garden plots.

Use Japanese Forces Against Indonesians

Are Fighting Under Command of British

BATAVIA, Nov. 22 (AP).—Japanese troops under British command battled Indonesians in eastern suburbs of Semarang today, while attempts to negotiate a peace between the Dutch and Indonesian Republican leaders collapsed.

A British spokesman said the Japanese were "good troops" who fought well.

At least 20 Indonesians were killed in Batavia in the past 24 hours by intermittent sniping and attacks, and a British communiqué reported a "serious outbreak of unrest" in Bandung, 75 miles southeast of Batavia.

Indonesian leaders here declared they would not meet with the Dutch as long as they keep "their present attitude."

A conference with Lt. Gen. Sir Philip Christison, Allied commander in chief in the Netherlands East Indies, had been scheduled for tonight.

900 to Get Notice Of Layoff Today At V.M.D. Yards

Sudden Cancellation of Entertainment Ship
Conversion for Royal Navy Given as Cause

Nearly 900 employees of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd., will receive layoff notices this morning, due to a sudden cancellation of work on the former Blue Funnel Line Ss. Agamemnon, which was being converted into an entertainment ship for the Royal Navy at No. 2 Plant.

H. S. Hamill, general manager of the shipyard, who announced the lay-off, reported last night the contract cancellation had come "very unexpectedly" from the War-time Shipping Administration at Ottawa.

Workers who have been at the plant for less than 30 days will be laid off immediately, and will receive their cheques today. The remaining employees will receive 7 days' notice, as of yesterday. The layoff will halve the total number of workers at the plant.

Any men needed for future work will be rehired within three or four days, it was reported.

It is understood the former Blue Funnel Line ship's engines will be put in sailing order, and the vessel returned to the original owners.

Work on a second entertainment ship is being done by West Coast Shipbuilders, Ltd., Vancouver. It was not learned last night whether the contract had been cancelled. Work on both vessels was being done for the British Admiralty.

The amnesty ships were British cargo vessels converted into fleet minelayers early in the war. They were being transformed into floating entertainment ships for British officers and naval ratings.

Officers at H.M.C. Dockyard stated the drydock is in good condition. Recently steam pumps were replaced with electric-powered pumps, and it is now possible to empty the basin within three hours. A new gate costing more than $50,000 was also installed.

The old drydock was completed for the Dominion Government in 1886. Water was first let into the basin on April 1, a year later. It was officially opened on July 7, 1887. Ships 460 feet in length can be handled. It was planned to use the drydock for naval vessels stationed on the Pacific Coast.

Munitions and Reconstruction Departments Will Be Merged

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—The Commons tonight gave first reading to a bill to merge the Department of Munitions and Supply with the Reconstruction Department.

Reconstruction Minister Howe said the Munitions Department now was completing its business.

It was possible that the Reconstruction Department would award contracts for peaceful purposes just as the old department had awarded contracts for war purposes.

Mr. Howe said the bill was a "reconstruction job" in importance. It was emphasized in the fact there already was unemployment in many Canadian cities.

It was an "idle" thought to think one department could dismantle the war plants and still give attention to reconstruction. The Reconstruction Department should be given to a younger man. The Government should reconsider the bill.

Angus MacIntyre (C.C.F., Vancouver East) said he agreed there was an urgent need for a separate Department of Reconstruction. However, the Progressive Conservatives had been urging for months that controls be removed and now they were calling for a department that would have to exercise controls.

At the same time, said Mr. MacIntyre, he was not sure that the amount of work involved in handling the munitions business and the reconstruction aspects would warrant a new minister.

Mr. Howe had done a good job and had good men in his department. With a few minor changes the C.C.F. party would be agreeable to letting the bill pass.

Missionaries on Way to Jungles

MONTREAL, Nov. 22 (CP).—First stage of a journey which will take them and their floating mission to the headwaters of the Amazon River and the jungles of Peru was begun today by two Franciscan priests and four assistants who set sail from here in a 36-foot converted invasion landing barge for New York.

The barge, adapted for use along the inland water routes of a proposed Franciscan mission with headquarters at Iquitos, Peru, was purchased from the U.S. Navy and rechristened the St. Jean Baptiste.

Heading the missionary party of six is Father Jean Baptiste Langlois.

New City Hall Given Approval at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Nov. 22 (CP).—Ratepayers in a plebiscite here today voted affirmative on two civic by-laws totaling $224,000 for a new city hall building and a new school program.

The necessary three-fifths majority was reached easily in both cases as 1,424 of the total of 1,900 qualified voters cast ballots.

The program provides for three new ward schools at a cost of $107,000, replacing present buildings which have served for more than 60 years, and replacements of the present City Hall building, which has been in operation for more than 80 years, at a cost of $117,000.

British Election

LONDON, Nov. 22 (Reuters).—The British general election last July drew 58,037,107 votes from an electorate of more than 33,000,000, or 33 per cent. It was officially learned here today. Service men's votes and proxy ballot paper totalled more than 1,700,000 and approximately 22,242,000 Britons voted personally.

ROME, Nov. 22 (AP).—Dispatches from Massa, in the Liguria region north of Leghorn, said that workmen had discovered in a pit 36 bodies of persons arrested and shot by the Germans. A commission has been named to exhume and try to identify the bodies.

Asks Dominion To Take Over Windsor Plant

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP).—The Canadian Congress of Labor, united through its executive council in a demand that the Federal Government take over the Ford Motor Company, tonight called to "all organized workers and friends of the Ford Strike Day" November 30.

Workers across Canada were asked to turn over "the equivalent of the day's earnings" to the strike fund of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) at Windsor, Ont. They were urged to use the day to "publicize their support" of the Ford workers' strike for union security.

The announcement came following a closed meeting of the C.C.L.'s executive council, whose delegates included heads of labor trade unions among the affiliated C.C.L. membership of some 350,000 workers.

The policy council, called in emergency session after a breakdown in negotiations yesterday in the 72-day-old strike, charged the Ford Company with "bad faith" in the negotiations.

"In view of the deliberate refusal of the company to negotiate on the basis of the strike, the executive council of the congress urges the Government of Canada to exercise its prerogatives to take over the control and operation of the Ford Company in the public interest," the statement said.

Strikers and company executives tightened their belts at the prospect of a long-drawn-out struggle in the strike already ten weeks old.

The day passed without any major developments on the Windsor strike front, but it brought new evidence of a determination by both the company and the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.) to stick to their guns in the dispute, which revolves around the union security issue.

Frick Declares Goering Engineered Blood Purge of evidence in their attempt to prove the first phase of the historic indictment against the Nazi hierarchy—that it had a "common plan or conspiracy" for snatching illegal control of Germany as a first step in world conquest.

The American case is likely to take ten days on Count 1, charging that the defendants conspired to wage an aggressive war.

PROSECUTOR'S CASE COMES AS A SHOCK

To the defendants, who had little idea what documents had been found, the prosecutors' case came as a shock.

It is now clear that Justice Robert Jackson, chief United States prosecutor, meant yesterday when he said: "We will not ask you to convict these men on the testimony of their foes. There is no count in the indictment which cannot be proved by books and records."

Goering is the most voluminous note-taker as he sits hunched over the front of the dock glaring at the prosecutors. When he disagrees with statements, as frequently happens, he shakes his head emphatically, mumbling to himself.

The former Luftwaffe chief is gradually assuming the leadership of the Nazi crowd at his end of the dock.

He talks a great deal with Joachim von Ribbentrop, Nazi Foreign Minister. Col.-Gen. Alfred Jodl, former Chief of Staff; Baldur von Schirach, leader of the Hitler Youth; and Fritz Sauckel, director of labor in Germany.

At the other end of the dock, Alfred Rosenberg is the boss. The grey-faced Nazi ideologist freely passes out advice to his fellow accused, and Julius Streicher, Hans Frank and Walther Funk all listen intently.

DOENITZ AND RAEDER HOLD THEMSELVES ALOOF

Grand Admirals Karl Doenitz and Erich Raeder alone hold themselves aloof.

Surprise swept the faces of all the defendants as Major Frank B. Wallis, assistant United States prosecutor, produced Frick's affidavit, given only a day before the trial opened last Tuesday.

Frick identified Goering as the prime mover in the blood purge of 1934.

While Goering glared at Frick, Major Wallis read from the affidavit, quoting Frick as saying that Hitler, persuaded by Heinrich Himmler that a putsch was being planned by Capt. Ernst Rohm, gave Goering the order to carry out the mass killings.

"Many people were killed, I don't know how many, who actually did not have anything to do with the putsch—people who just weren't liked very well," said Frick's statement.

Amongst these Frick named Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, former Reichschancellor, and his wife, and Gregor Strasser, one-time Nazi Party leader, who had differed with Hitler.

Frick's statement said "something like a hundred, even more, were killed who were accused of high treason. All of this was done without resort to legal proceedings. They were just killed on the spot."

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP).—Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, is planning a "trip to Canada after Christmas, it was learned today."

Mr. Morrison's office said the journey was proposed, but could give no definite dates. The Cabinet member has been invited to address the Toronto Board of Trade and may also

Ten Killed in Calcutta Riot

CALCUTTA, Nov. 22 (CP).—At least ten persons were reported killed as rioting crowds surged through Calcutta today in demonstrations marking Indian National Army Day.

Four persons were known dead, with one killed by police gunfire today, and scores of demonstrators and police were injured. Three persons were killed and 53 injured Wednesday when police fired at demonstrators in downtown Calcutta. Six other deaths were reported.

The injured included 12 American soldiers.

The rioting intensified tonight after two days of disorders. Hospitals were jammed. At least 22 military trucks were burned by the rioters.

Sweden was almost 100 per cent pro-Allied during the war, Hans Ostelius, public relations officer of the Royal Swedish Air Force, disclosed during an interview at the Express Hotel yesterday.

He related how a V-2 German bomb fell intact on Swedish soil and was flown on an American C-47 to England, where experts studied it long before Hitler launched his rocket attack.

German troops massed to invade Sweden several times, but the High Command thought better of it. Mr. Ostelius declared, adding: "It was our preparedness that kept them out."

Sweden's well-trained and well-equipped army would have given German troops opposition then Norway, he asserted.

However, Sweden could have served the Allies little by entering the war actively. Mr. Ostelius thought, because she would eventually have been overrun, her cities razed and her patriots shot and tortured, all to no purpose.

As a neutral, she managed to give considerable secret help. Danish and Norwegian underground armies were supplied and reinforced from Sweden. Many refugees from occupied countries were welcomed, Mr. Ostelius stated.

A threat which Germany held over Sweden's head was stoppage of coal supplies which were vital to her industry.

Journalist, author of ten books, and frequent broadcaster over the Stockholm radio station, Mr. Ostelius is touring Canada and writing a series of articles for a Stockholm paper. He flew across the continent westward and today still start on his air journey east. He believes Canada and Sweden have a lot in common, and should try for greater mutual understanding. Canada has no ambassador in Stockholm, although Sweden has an ambassador at Ottawa, Mr. Ostelius observed.

Return to Monarchy Advised Hindenburg; Last Will Faked

By GEORGE TUCKER
(Copyright, 1945, by The Associated Press.)

NUERNBERG, Nov. 22 (AP).—Franz von Papen has informed the International War Crimes Tribunal that the genuine "last testament" of President Paul von Hindenburg urged Adolf Hitler to help restore the Hohenzollern monarchy in Germany and to advise continuing the offices of head of the State and head of the Government.

"The legislative and executive branches must always remain separate," President von Hindenburg said, as quoted by von Papen. "It is my wish that Germany return to the monarchical form of government after my death."

Hitler was President Hindenburg's Chancellor during the last 19 months of the Hindenburg regime, and after Hindenburg's death in 1934 combined the presidency and chancellorship into the office of Reichsfuehrer. The Nazi Government that year published a document described as Hindenburg's last will and testament. Its authenticity was widely questioned, particularly a section which, by implication, urged Hitler to combine the offices of head of the Reich and head of the Government.

Von Papen said he drew up the original document at Hindenburg's request, and in a letter dated October 24, 1934, told the Nuremberg War Crimes Court that the true Hindenburg will never was published. By American request, von Papen reconstructed the will from memory while awaiting trial as a war criminal.

"The wording is not identical," he said, "but the thoughts and desires of the Reich President are authentic."

When the Commonwealth stood alone in the war was the time she needed friends and the co-operation of persons who had taken out citizenship in this country.

"What do we find?" he asked. "What has been our record of the past?—Up until the defeat of Japan the Japanese wanted to go back to their own country. This is a free country and we took them at their word. But when the atomic

Former Ship Master Dies in Australia

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP).—Capt. John Dunlop Sydney Phillips, 80, master of the old Canadian-Australian liner Aurang, died at Sydney, Australia, October 22 according to word received here today.

Capt. Phillips, who made 125 round trips between Vancouver and Sydney, requested that his ashes be scattered at Circular Quay, Sydney, at the former berth of the Aberdeen Clipper John Dunlop, his birthplace.

A familiar figure in Vancouver for 23 years, Capt. Phillips joined the original Aurang in 1897 and was her master from 1901 to 1910. He later commanded the well-known Canadian-Australian liners Maitai, Manuka, Zelandia and Makuru.

Addition to Building

A third-story addition of eight rooms to offices of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., at 1016 Langley Street, will be constructed at a cost of $27,181. A permit for the addition to the west side of the building was taken out from the city building department yesterday.

A permit was also issued for a $1,400 addition to the Shawinigan Lumber Yards, Ltd., at 2006 Government Street. It will be a lumber storage and display building.

A concrete wall will be built by the Royal Jubilee Hospital at 1800 Fort Street. Purpose of the wall is to prevent radiation from hospital therapy machines interfering with electrical instruments in the district. The wall will cost $500.

Offers Nova Scotia's Flag For Use as Dominion Ensign

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—Senator William Duff (L. Nova Scotia) today offered Canada use of the flag Nova Scotia has had for more than three centuries complete with its time-honored method for keeping its white background free from dirt.

From Senator James Murdoch (L. Ontario) came the reply: "How would you keep it clean?"

From Senator Duff came the answer: "Well sir, in Nova Scotia we have a practice of using lots of soap and water."

He offered the flag on behalf of Nova Scotians in the Senate.

Since 1621 Nova Scotia has had her own flag, granted through Royal charter by King James I. But it never was placed before the Union Jack.

On behalf of Nova Scotians present, he suggested Nova Scotia's flag as the "distinctive Canadian flag."

The flag has a white base with the blue cross of St. Andrew with the Scottish coat of arms in the centre.

Sensor Duff was speaking on a motion calling for a joint committee of the two Houses of Parliament to select a design for a distinctive national flag.

The motion was passed and the following Senators were among those named to the committee: F. W. Genshaw (L. Alberta), J. R. Howden (L.A. Manitoba), J. F. Johnston (L. Saskatchewan) and W. M. Aseltine (P.C., Saskatchewan).

Veteran Loses to Bogus Landlord

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP).—A new racket to swindle veterans has been exposed by a house-hunting almanac.

The almanac, E. J. Duplin, made the discovery after he had lost $5 to a would-be landlord.

The "landlord" answered an advertisement he had a house to rent, but a deposit would be required until the end of the month, when present tenants were moving out.

He said he would be back the following Sunday to take them to the house. That was more than two weeks ago. He hasn't come yet.

He went out to see the alleged house at the given address but there was no such number.

OLD REMARK ABOUT SCOTS IS RECALLED

A former woman member of the British Columbia Legislature had said the Scots were as "hard or even harder to assimilate than the Japs." That, said Mr. Reid, was an insult to the Scottish race. He was glad the woman was defeated at the last election.

The Japanese were not assimilable and never could be assimilated. It was better to remove them from the country.

Labor Minister Mitchell stepped briefly into the debate after Rev. Dan McIvor (Liberal, Fort Williams) said that the Government had no right to tell British Columbia that it must take the Japanese and have them segregated there. British Columbia had no greater responsibility than any other province in Canada to supply homes for the Japanese.

"I will say that Canadian citizenship is a sacred thing, and whether a man be Japanese, Indian or Irish, his citizenship is his sacred right, and we must be careful how we handle it."

Mr. Mitchell said he agreed that citizenship was a sacred thing. "But always remember this, that when this nation gives citizenship to an individual from another country, that citizenship carries with it certain obligations."

When the Commonwealth stood alone in the war was the time she needed friends and the co-operation of persons who had taken out citizenship in this country.

"What do we find?" he asked. "What has been our record of the past?—Up until the defeat of Japan the Japanese wanted to go back to their own country. This is a free country and we took them at their word. But when the atomic

Near 6,000 Officers, Ratings From Dominion in Royal Navy

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—Almost 6,000 officers and ratings of the Royal Canadian Navy served on loan in ships and establishments of the Royal Navy during the war, Naval Headquarters disclosed today and said nearly all now have been recalled and are either back in Canada or on their way.

In the first official compilation of Canadians serving with the Royal Navy, headquarters said 1,634 officers and 4,149 ratings had gone to Britain either to receive specialized training afforded by Royal Navy facilities or to serve in actual combat areas aboard Royal Navy ships. And for the first time it told also of mutual assistance given in return by the Royal Navy to the young Canadian Navy.

Throughout the war this mutual co-operation continued.

Enquiry Finds Gardiner Votes Were Altered

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—A report by Justice J. T. Brown, of Saskatchewan, tabled in the Commons today, found that 12 of 98 ballots cast in one poll of the constituency of Melville in the Federal election of June 11 were tampered with in an attempt to defeat Agriculture Minister Gardiner, but named no person as "the criminal" responsible.

Chief Justice Brown, in a 12,000-word report on an investigation made at the request of Mr. Gardiner, said the 12 ballots were originally marked for the minister, that they were removed from the envelope containing Mr. Gardiner's ballots and that a cross was marked on them opposite the name of H. J. Benson, the C.C.F. candidate, and then lightly erased.

The investigation arose out of charges by C.C.F. supporters that "certain irregularities" had occurred in connection with Polling Station No. 36, in a schoolhouse known as the Robert Schoolhouse, some 20 miles west of Melville.

It was contended by C.C.F. speakers and others that 12 of Mr. Benson's ballots had been marked for Mr. Gardiner and the marks for Mr. Benson erased.

Chief Justice Brown found that "the unscrupulous person who perpetrated the fraud did so not only in order to invalidate these ballots in his recount but that the whole poll of 44 votes might be thrown out and the will of the electors defeated."

Junior Chamber Leader Honored

"We must train our members to become valuable men in their community," Edward O'Connor, national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Canada, asserted at a dinner last night in Terry's dining-room.

He stated total membership of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Canada was now past the 15,000 mark, nearly double that of last year. He hoped that by next June the total would increase to 20,000.

"Our organization has great plans and ambitions for the future," Mr. O'Connor stated. "I hope Victoria will do its part. He mentioned projects being carried out in other cities of Canada.

The speaker maintained his organization had a three-point policy, development of civic-consciousness, self-development and active fellowship.

Archie Cater, regional director for British Columbia, stressed need of more members in Victoria. "The Junior Chamber of Commerce is going places in Canada," he asserted.

Walter Miles, vice-president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, urged that new members include many returned men. He suggested that local members sponsor a movement for a large stadium at Beacon Hill Park.

C. J. Harrington, president, introduced the speakers, and spoke briefly.

Death Accidental Says Kinney Counsel

making a serious attack, Mr. Davey continued. He said that her clothes had been stained, and fearing that a sex attack would be attributed to him, he took off her clothes, buried her dress and slip, and took her jacket and other articles to Beacon Hill Park. He buried the body in the sawdust bin.

Mr. Davey then summoned Dr. G. L. Davidson, Vancouver, a specialist in nervous and mental diseases. Dr. Davidson said he examined Kinney last month, that his weight of 250 pounds indicated an endocrine disturbance, and that he had found marked sexual underdevelopment. Such a condition was frequently characterized by a marked lack of interest in the opposite sex, he testified.

As often occurred in such cases, Dr. Davidson stated, he found Kinney had a very close attachment to his mother.

"It is very unlikely he would have attempted any immoral relationship," he asserted.

Mrs. Charlotte Kinney, mother of the accused boy, told how devoted he was.

"When his father went away, he told Charlie that he was the man of the house now and to look after me, and he took it wholeheartedly," she explained.

Mrs. Kinney told how she was sorry for the Stroud girls because they had no mother, and that they frequently came to her with their troubles and called her "ma." After Phyllis passed her 18th birthday she began to resent being checked. She described one occasion when Carol Stroud had berated her over some trouble about an electric light. During the conversation Mr. Stroud had said something to the effect that she was an old fool.

SON PROTESTED MR. STROUD'S REMARK.

Charlie, who was in the kitchen, had come to the door, threatening Mr. Stroud and saying: "Don't you call my mother an old fool."

"Chuck never went out without bringing something home for me," Mrs. Kinney said, her voice breaking. "He often would ask me to go out with him to shows. There are so many things he did that I cannot recall."

In the morning session, Mr. Justice Goady ruled that a confession made by the accused to Detective Munro would be admitted as evidence. Consideration of the admissibility of the evidence had occupied the court for a day and a half.

His Lordship said that if he had found any evidence of abuse in questioning the accused he would have condemned it most strongly, but there was no indication of questioning not appropriate to the occasion.

The accused himself had admitted receiving kindly treatment and he had no hesitation in accepting the evidence of Detective Munro.

Called to the stand, Munro related how he and Detective Louis Callon had called for Kinney on the morning of September 3. At the police station he and the accused were alone for a few moments in the detective inspector's office.

"I asked him, 'Did you kill the girl, and was it an accident?'" Munro recalled.

Kinney then told him the story, Munro testified, and as a result of his confession, he and Callon went with the accused to Beacon Hill Park and found the clothes.

Says Change in Extradition Treaty Harmful to Investor

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—Canadian prospectors and others seeking capital in the United States would become criminals if the protocol to the Canada-United States extradition treaty was ratified, Arthur Slaght, of Toronto, representing the Toronto Stock Exchange, said today before the external affairs committee.

Mr. Slaght was outlining the exchange's objections to the Protocol Committee on the extradition of persons from the Dominion to the United States.

The Protocol, which aims at protecting from extradition persons who innocently violate United States Security regulations, already has been signed by the two countries and will come into force on ratification by Parliament.

Mr. Slaght, who at an earlier sitting of the committee listed great Canadian industries developed largely through United States financial backing, said the Protocol would hinder the flow of American capital into Canada for future development because those seeking such assistance could not go freely into the United States market.

This was because they then would have to register with United States Security Commissions and would become subject to their regulations.

Mr. Slaght said he was opposed to a Canadian being extradited to the United States and tried there for a breach of United States law which did not constitute any violation of Canadian law. That would happen under the treaty if Canadian Security dealers sold stock in the United States in violation of American law if at the same time their action was lawful in Canada.

The Protocol would cancel the present treaty provision—the basis of all extradition treaties—that a person could not be extradited to another country if his alleged crime was not an offence under the laws of his own country.

Seattle Printers Still on Strike

SEATTLE, Nov. 22 (AP).—No developments were reported today in the Seattle printers' strike, in a wage increase dispute with the three Seattle daily newspapers.

Union headquarters tonight issued a statement that picketing continued in relays, to permit the men to enjoy holiday dinners "without relaxation of the vigil," and that the strike committee was in constant session on a skeletonized basis "with no developments announced as Seattle's fourth newspaperless day drew to a close."

Pigs Are Pigs But Member Thinks They Think Better Than Members

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—Pigs are pigs and they are very clear thinkers. Members of Parliament could well envy pigs.

That was the inference that came careening today out of so many rounded, rollicking words from Patrick Ashby, the Social Credit Member for Edmonton East, and accepted champion of the hog, his mental processes and his methods.

In the Commons, Mr. Ashby reverted to his hog pen to make a point about the Ford Motor strikers at Windsor, Ont., and the Commons' handling of the strike.

Said he: "Here are men who have broken out of pasture, as it were; broken out of the pen. What will you do about it? Let us take a walk out to my farm, because I have such strikes constantly if I am not on the job."

"To give you an illustration of how we common farmers would deal with such a problem, let us use our imaginations for a few moments. We will imagine we are on my farm and the hogs have broken out of the pen."

"I am standing in the kitchen waiting for a couple of doughnuts to cool off because my wife happens to be frying them. Looking through the window, I see the hogs rooting in the kitchen garden."

"What would Parliament do under these circumstances?"

"I am afraid it would debate the subject. It would make lengthy and, perhaps, brilliant speeches on nothing at all because I have sat here for weeks biting my fingernails and wondering when we would get down to business."

"But what would I do under the circumstances? I would go to my wife and kiss her on the cheek and she would stand back and place her hands on her hips and look me up and down and say, 'Now, what do you want?'"

"And I would say, 'My love, look out the window at Nature's marvels, and then I would dodge the broom as she grabbed it and rushed out

Believes Britain Owe Him $1,100

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 22 (CP).—J. W. Dinning, Imperial Army veteran, believes the British Government owes him $1,100.

Mr. Dinning, who served in the Boer War, was mentioned in dispatches by Lord Roberts.

He also served in France and Belgium in the First Great War.

In 1919 he was awarded as having won the Meritorious Service Medal, which, he understands, carries an annuity of about $50.

The New Westminster branch of the Imperial Veterans now is busy investigating Mr. Dinning's case.

Cash Awards for Medal Winners

OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—Servicemen who have won either the Military Medal or the Distinguished Service Medal in the Second Great War will receive a cash award of $100 on discharge, transfer to the reserve or appointment to commissioned rank, Veterans' Minister Mackenzie announced tonight.

These cash awards will be paid by Canada in line with the practice followed in connection with the Distinguished Conduct Medal, the Distinguished Gallantry Medal and the Distinguished Flying Medal.

Victoria Cross winners—13 in the Second Great War—receive $50 yearly, but there is provision of payment up to about $350 yearly to officers in cases of need due to age or infirmity.

Mr. Mackenzie said the latest figures showed 1,293 Servicemen were eligible for the latest cash payments—1,187 were winners of the M.M. and 106 were winners of the D.S.M.

Evidence Completed

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 22 (CP).—All evidence in the case of William Edward Terry, Vancouver contractor, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death last August 24 of Hymie Irving Rivkin, formerly of Winnipeg, was completed here today.

The jury will be charged tomorrow by Justice J. O. Wilson after it has been addressed by Alex Duncan, Crown counsel, and Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., defence counsel.

THE FORD STRIKE

Can be Settled NOW

The Major Obstacle Standing in the Way of an Immediate End to the Prolonged Ford Strike, and the Return of Thousands of Ford Employees and Other Canadian Workers to Job and Wages, is the Uncompromising Demand of the Union for What They Term "UNION SECURITY."

What is "Union Security"?

One form of Union Security is the Union Shop. Union Shop means this: No man or woman can get or hold a job in a plant where Union Shop conditions prevail unless he or she is a member of a Union or consents to become a member as a condition of employment.

Ford of Canada recognizes, and respects the employee's individual right to belong to a Union if he so desires — and the right of Union representatives to bargain collectively on behalf of employees. But this Company believes NO EMPLOYEE SHOULD BE COMPELLED AS A CONDITION OF EMPLOYMENT, TO BECOME OR TO REMAIN A MEMBER OF ANY LABOR UNION.

Union leaders claim the Union Shop is necessary to ensure democratic conditions within a plant. We believe the Union Shop is contrary to the ideas of democracy held by the ordinary citizen. The Union Shop is not democracy; IT IS A DICTATORSHIP BY A LABOR UNION.

The FACTS about the Union Shop

1. The Union Shop is not designed to protect the rights of the employee, but to give a Labor Union dictatorial power over workers in a plant.
2. The Union Shop compels workers in a plant to join and support the Union—and to pay cash tribute from their wages to the union on penalty of losing their jobs. The Union Shop may mean security for Union Officials—BUT IT DOES NOT MEAN JOB SECURITY for the employee.
3. The Union Shop sets up a dictatorship over the working force in a plant. Individual employees are forced to join and remain members of the Union, regardless of how they may disagree with Union policies. They could be forced to support these policies on penalty of expulsion from the Union, which automatically would mean the loss of their jobs.
4. The Union Shop is NOT necessary to ensure or protect the security of a Union.

Ford of Canada recognizes the right of its employees to belong to the Union of their choice. The Company recognizes the right of the appropriate Union to bargain collectively on behalf of plant employees, whether Union members or not.

The Strike Can be Ended NOW

We believe that the granting of a Union dictatorship is NOT the way to end the Ford strike. We believe that the proposal made to the Union by the Company on November 16, IS a sound and fair basis for settlement. This proposal, though rejected by the Union, is still open for acceptance. It provides that Ford employees be returned to their jobs and wages, while Union and Company negotiate a new collective bargaining agreement. It proposes that after a reasonable period of time for negotiations, all remaining differences be decided upon by an arbitrator to be appointed by the Minister of Labor for Canada from among the Judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario. It requires that both Union and Company agree to accept and be bound by the arbitrator's decisions. The principle of arbitration is as old as British ideas of fair play and equal justice. It is, basically, the same democratic process as that applied in the courts of Canada to the settlement of differences between conflicting parties. It agreed-to-by the Union the Company's proposal would quickly put an end to the long-drawn-out strike. It would restore jobs and wages to thousands of Ford employees and other Canadian workers, of sorely needed cars and trucks. The Union can, and should, act on this reasonable and equitable proposal to end the Ford strike now.

Too Thorough

The German passion for thoroughness, for pursuing details to the last lead pencil required in plans for world invasion, will inevitably hang some of them yet. The Nazis were afflicted with the same quirk. They had to put everything down in writing, dotting the i's and crossing the t's. They wrote orders for the extermination of the Poles. They wrote orders for the maltreatment of prisoners. They wrote orders for the theft of livestock and food of whole countryside. They even wrote orders for their submarine crews to sink opposing shipping "without trace." And so it went, from alpha to omega in the scale of gangster warfare.

Today that trait on the part of a defeated foe will come in handy. It has already helped to restore lives and property in Europe. It will be a cardinal fact in the current trials of war criminals at Nuremberg, as it was in the Belsen camp atrocities. The German records have been traced, and they will be used in evidence against the men who wrote them, or used them, in their brutal purposes. The records are, it is said, thorough and complete. Even negligible details are included—how many whips with which to beat men, how many hooks on which to hang bodies, and the like.

The Nazis may regret the details now. To have lost the war was a major fact for them. To have been dispersed and rendered powerless was another one. To be traced through such records and held responsible for crimes, great or small, must be galling indeed. And yet it is not for any little crime that the chief Nazi gangsters are in the felon's dock today—it is for the outright crime of engineering war and for carrying it out with more brutality than has been witnessed on the face of this earth since the days of Attila the Hun.

The world is making progress when war is recognized as a crime, and its instigators as criminals.

Hon. Frank Putnam

The appointment of Mr. Frank Putnam, M.L.A., as Minister of Agriculture in British Columbia brings to that portfolio a man who has farmed, and successfully. Were there no other recommendation that alone would be much. In the case of the steady-paced and quietly spoken member for Nelson-Creston, however, there are other recommendations as pertinent and timely. A good British Columbian, who knows lumbering and mining almost as well as he is acquainted with agriculture—and that is at first hand—Mr. Putnam has been a member of successive Legislatures for twelve years.

Once, briefly, he held the portfolio of Agriculture, in the closing hours of the Pattullo regime. Recalled to that office now as a Coalitionist, Mr. Putnam will have the opportunity of applying the experience he gained as a fruitgrower and rancher at Creston in an extensive way. No doubt the departure of the British Columbia delegation for Ottawa speeded an appointment that would have come in any event, following the regretted death of Dr. K. C. MacDonald, the former Minister of Agriculture.

Often, chief whip of his party in the House, Frank Putnam is liked and respected among all parties in the Assembly. He is a natural conciliator, with the knack of bringing opposing human elements to the common ground in the centre. Calm and untrifled in temperament, Hon. Frank Putnam will be an acquisition to the new Cabinet as he has long been to successive Legislatures. He dislikes speeches, but for all that has a record of getting needed things done. The choice of a successor to the portfolio of Agriculture will be endorsed over wide areas in British Columbia and much farther afield.

A Reasoning View

A distinguished visitor to Vancouver this week had some kind words to say about the British Commonwealth and Empire, a refreshing change from the readiness with which so much uninformed opinion finds public expression. He was Sir Tiruvallugudi Vijayaraghava Charya, Prime Minister of the Rajputana State of Udaipur, now in Canada to attend food conferences at Ottawa.

The Indian statesman praised the Empire because it stood for "right doing," pointing out that "its fundamental basis is to give just right to each nation." This is simply borne out by the reading of history. No other empire has had such influence for good throughout the world, or carried its concepts of justice and fair play to lands it regarded as trusteeships rather than possessions. It has been a stabilizing force for the past century, and any weakness in its power will be the world's loss.

Sir Tiruvallugudi deemed the British Empire necessary as a first step towards a real union of nations. His own country wants to stay in that Empire, he pointed out. Full independence will be attained by India within two years, he believed, but within the compass of Dominion status. He declared that the number desiring independence outside the Commonwealth was in the minority. As indicative of the loyalty to the Commonwealth and Empire he cited the Indian Army, which two million men had joined voluntarily.

At this distance it is sometimes difficult to get a clear picture of the Indian state of mind regarding complete self-government. Those to whom the British Empire is anathema no matter what it does would do well to note the remarks of the Udaipur prime minister, whose state is vitally interested in Indian constitutional changes, and whose words cannot be dismissed as mere politeness on the part of a visitor.

Privacy Wanted

In its efforts to obtain more privacy for juveniles charged with misdemeanours, the Children's Aid Society will have community support. As the society points out, the atmosphere of a police court and stares of spectators while they wait for regular police court sessions to finish, is inimical to the juveniles concerned. Erring youngsters are not exhibits and exposing them to public curiosity has a harmful effect. It should be a simple matter to arrange for juvenile hearings at a time when no other court is sitting.

The other complaint of the society, that no separate detention home for minors is available, is more serious. It is preposterous that a child of nine years should be detained in the city jail, which the society asserts happened last week. The road to good behaviour does not lie in this direction. Minors who get into trouble should not be subjected to an environment commonly the lot of hardened adult offenders. Jails at best are never elevating and certainly are no place for children.

Welfare authorities have made it abundantly clear that the prevention of juvenile delinquency lies in sympathetic and understanding treatment. Concurrent with this is the necessity for correction in private, and accommodation that has no brutalizing influence. The law prescribes separate juvenile detention accommodation. Civic and municipal councils should take steps to see that the law in this matter is respected.

Fairmiles Cost Money

The cost of Fairmiles built in Canada, varying at the individual shipyard, was somewhere between $180,000 and $190,000, according to shipping circles on the West Coast. How such craft came to be sold by the War Assets Corporation for $3,000 apiece is a circumstance which will certainly have to be explained to the people of Canada. Nor, at that figure, is it easy to imagine how anyone, no matter how placed, could seek a commission on such sales.

British Columbia is interested, because on this coast willing buyers were offering several times that sum for the ships, and were told that there were none left. Until this deal is explained, the War Assets Corporation will appear as a liability to many in this land.

Nor does it help that the ships went to a foreign country, their use and service being withdrawn from this land. Parliament should press for the answers, for the whole thing is incomprehensible as it stands.

Seen in Passing

The lighting problem in residential Victoria comes down to this—lamps were placed between growing trees. The trees have grown up and are masking the lights. Roadways that used to be illuminated uniformly are now in darkness, except at street intersections. All drivers know that. Also, more lights have been added to circuits, and some apparently are being starved. The cluster lights, dim, still wear their black caps. Newly installed demonstration lights do not imply any improvement. It will be idle to patch and putter in that situation. What Victoria needs is a whole new lighting plan, and as soon as that can be achieved. Meanwhile, many residents are leaving their porches lit on at night to help others see their way home. It should not have come to that.

Of interest to West Coast shipping circles is the report from London which tells of prefabrication methods being employed to build British ships. Messrs. John Brown, of Clydebank, builders of the Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, have a 32,000-ton ship on the ways for the Cunard Line, and prefabricated sections built in various parts of Britain are being used in its construction. This is said to be the first example of new speed-up methods introduced over there for passenger liners.

Ab, yes, some of us strive
Not without action to die
Fruitless, but something to show
From dull oblivion, nor all
Clut the devouring grave.
We, we have chosen our path—
Path to a clear purpose of goal.
Path of advance—but it leads
A long, steep journey, through sun
Gorges, over mountains in snow.
Cheerful, with friends, we set forth—
Then, on the heights, comes the storm.
Thunder crashes from rock.
To rock, the cataracts reply,
Lightnings dazzle our eyes.

The Third Column

By TOM TAYLOR

GENERAL EISENHOWER

The elevation of General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower to the post of chief of staff of the United States Army will be hailed by every true-blue American, for it is in the authentic vein of the "Log Cabin to White House" tradition beloved by so many citizens of that great country.

The former Supreme Allied commander, although a graduate of West Point, is no aristocrat. He is the product of a humble Kansas home, and like many lesser mortals worked his way with his hands while attending ordinary grade school.

Having commanded larger American armies in the field than any of his predecessors, and led the Allies to victory in Europe, his career is now climaxed by appointment to the highest national position in the gift of his profession.

It has been a meteoric rise. Four years ago he was an obscure colonel on the staff who had never heard an angry bullet. Now his name is a household word in all Allied countries, and the universal sobriquet of "Ike" is testimony to the cordiality he inspires.

NATIVE ABILITY

Eisenhower's native military ability had long been noted by the man whom he succeeds in the direction of the United States Army, General George Marshall, and he is reported to have made a marked impression on President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill prior to the North African invasion. History, however, must count few other instances of a raw general being entrusted with command of a large force of invading troops.

The appointment of Eisenhower as Supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, his first Allied assignment, was no doubt a political one. Up till then he was experienced as a theoretical, a professional soldier, his duties had kept him in the United States during 1917-18, and he lost the opportunity to sample modern warfare that was afforded the high-ranking British and Canadian officers who became his colleagues in the World War.

By the time the North African venture fell due America was becoming a dominant factor in the war. No other country had the resources she had and no other could provide the troops and equipment on the scale necessary for eventual victory. It would have been diplomatically impossible, under these circumstances, for United States troops to be placed under the command of other than an American general.

No political appointment ever had such happy results.

PATTERN OF UNITY

Later on, in Italy and France, American soldiers served under British and Canadian commanders, but that was the result of the pattern of unity created by Eisenhower, and which is one of the chief contributions he made to the Allied cause.

Eisenhower's supreme command of Allied troops in the Mediterranean, and more important in Northwest Europe, appears to have operated with a conspicuous lack of the acrimony and dissunity that in almost all previous wars marked any grand alliance.

The extent of his personal skill as a military strategist will not be assessed for public consumption until the record and history of the campaigns are compiled. He was surrounded by probably the greatest team of experts any Allied commander has ever had, and he was fortunate to have at his disposal the finest military minds of the world. Men of proven brilliance like Montgomery, Alexander, Tedder, and Cunningham, undoubtedly had much to do with the success of Allied arms in every phase of their operations.

General Eisenhower, however, was the top man. His was the final responsibility and the final decisions, and it is already a matter of public record that he proved himself to be a great leader.

SECRET OF SUCCESS

The secret of his success, it is to be found in the warmth with which he is everywhere regarded. In his own country he is, naturally enough, if this were not so, he is almost equally venerated in England, which knew him so well and which has apparently taken him to its collective heart. The cry of "Ike," shouted with evident affection, greets him wherever he goes.

He is obviously a man of rare character, and character often outshines other qualities. No commander has conducted himself with less bombast and shown more genial good sense than Eisenhower. The speeches he has made since his battle talks end reveal the man inside the uniform, a man of genuine good will.

Character alone could have enabled him to surround his first big hurdle, when he was placed in command over Allied officers senior to him both in rank and in experience. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, they say, and the proof of this precedent-making assignment is to be found today at Normandy. It is a proposition that Britain's new chief of air staff is to be Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder, Eisenhower's deputy throughout all his campaigns. It seems likely too that Field Marshal Montgomery will be Britain's next chief of army staff. The battlefield alliance welded under fire by these three great men will have an opportunity to produce other and to their own way perhaps equally valuable sea-time results.

Japanese Brains Behind Javanese Rebellion

By FREDERIC W. COLLINS

North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON—Present troubles in Java owe their gravity, it is felt by well-informed observers here, to a mistake of the "Too little, too late" variety. The result is an international political dilemma.

The conscience of the democratic world is jarred by the undeniable fact that Allied arms are suppressing with violence a movement by a huge population toward self-government.

The moral issue is confused, however, by the possibility, recognized by realistic statesmen, that the Japanese now have a chance to accomplish in that corner of the world—after their defeat—what they could not accomplish by war.

That is the extension of their principle of "Asia for the Asians," otherwise designated as the "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere," through the establishment in Java of a government friendly to the Japanese rather than to the Allies.

Inquiry among American, British and Dutch diplomatic circles brings warning that it would be a mistake to judge the Javanese situation as a simple black-and-white case of imperial power suppressing native aspirations toward independence.

The Dutch, it is conceded, were bound to face a strong nationalist movement when the Japanese occupation authority was broken in Java. There was considerable hope, however, that the sovereign Dutch and the natives could come to terms if negotiations were conducted in an atmosphere of good order.

In an interval when no legitimate authority was on the scene, pure chaos developed. The British are now engaged in their assigned task of attempting to restore order, but however successful they may be, the resumption of discussions between the Dutch and the Indonesians must inevitably be under the handicap of the current history of bloodshed, and the added handicap of strong Japanese contributions to the Indonesian nationalist movement.

The Japanese surrendered on August 14. The British were unable to arrive to establish authority in Java until late in September, bringing only a small force then.

Several startling events had occurred in the meantime. The Japanese had turned over to the Indonesians their arms and ammunition, which they should have turned over to the Allies. Twenty thousand Japanese troops in Soerabaja mysteriously disappeared, with their weapons. Presumably they have distributed themselves through the resistance movement. A Japanese general disappeared instead of surrendering, and the British and the Dutch find evidence now of a "military brain" behind the resistance operations.

A formal "Indonesian Republic" was proclaimed, under Soekarno, who had collaborated with the Japanese.

One guess here is that this may have started out as a moderate group, which would have been willing to talk things over with the Dutch. But the Japanese, either by plan or by opportunism, gave support in propaganda and material to disorderly elements which Soekarno and his group had rallied to themselves in order to broaden the base of their Government.

In this undertaking, they were undoubtedly helped by natives trained in Tokyo to foment resistance.

Whether in conformity with Soekarno's intentions, or because he could not prevent it, the Indonesian Nationalist movement became a military resistance and as such soon got out of control.

By the time the British arrived, a well-armed opposition was organized. The opportunity for a resolution of the issues between the Dutch and the Indonesians by orderly negotiations had vanished. There was nothing for the British to do but fight it out.

The British describe their mission in Java as an "ungrateful task." It was assigned to them by the combined chiefs of staff—British and American—and followed locally from the wartime division of military responsibility which brought the southeast Asia command into being under Lord Mountbatten.

The Japanese have the task of disarming the Japanese, suppressing all Japanese subversive activities, and releasing all Allied prisoners of war or internees. It has been understood all along that when this was done civil authority would be handed over to the Dutch. The British disclaim any interest in the question of the future regime of Java, and the neighboring islands.

There is some excuse, it is granted, for the British tardiness in arriving in Java, and for the inadequacy of their original force. The Japanese surrender caught everyone by surprise. The British were spread thin. They had work to do in Malaya and Burma like that they were assigned to in Java.

The Dutch feel on the other hand, that they could have been permitted to have their own forces available. For two years, they claim, they sought shipping which would have made possible the training of a force, and at the right time, its delivery at Java. The fact the Dutch did not have their own troops there is due to Allied decisions on the allocation of shipping.

Observation Car

By G. B.

Not long ago a visitor at the home of two brothers who live near Shelbourne Street upset the younger brother by telling the elder one several times what he looked like. A few days later a garage proprietor ran out of gasoline, refilled, and went to the house of the brothers, where he met the elder. Later he encountered the younger brother, and innocently remarked: "I ran out of gasoline this morning and had to borrow your telephone. Your father looks quite young."

From a reader: "A surprising number of untidy persons do not see the wastepaper receptacle in the B.C. Telephone Company office, and there is often a 'snowstorm' of envelopes on the floor. Now the British Government allows larger parcels to be sent to civilians in the United Kingdom, the Federal Government should reduce the postal rates. Many persons in reduced circumstances find the rates far too high to send regular parcels to friends and relatives."

At one of his rare press conferences, George Bernard Shaw stated that his writings were worth $1 per word. A smart man from Idaho sent Shaw a special delivery letter containing $1. "Send me one of your words," he wrote. Shaw answered "thanks" by the next post. "Harberston saw Bill, the Broad Street barber, building water from the basement of his home. 'Rain?' he asked. 'Oh, no! I bought two cords of bone-dry wood' and it leaked a little," Bill chuckled.

Fruit Cake, Plum Pudding Lead List of Christmas Preparations

Christmas always calls for family reunions, long chats by a cozy, roaring fire, and plenty of delicious food. Roast turkey and cranberry sauce are a part of every family Christmas dinner. Also topping the lists of food essentials are puddings and cakes. Light and quick, here are a few recipes that will not drain the ration coupons too drastically:

DARK FRUIT CAKE

1 cup butter.

1 cup brown sugar.
1 cup seeded raisins, cut in pieces.
1 cup currants.
1 cup citron, thinly sliced and cut in strips.
1 cup molasses.

2 eggs or 4 egg whites.
1 cup milk.
2 cups flour.
1 teaspoon soda.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
1/2 teaspoon allspice and mace.
1/2 teaspoon clove.
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract.

Dredge fruit with one-quarter cup flour. Cream butter and beat in sugar slowly. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift remaining flour with seasonings and add alternately with liquids. Spread layer of cake batter in buttered and floured deep pans, sprinkle with fruit and repeat until used. Bake one and one-quarter hours in a moderately slow oven. Walnut meats may be substituted in place of citron, if desired.

PLUM PUDDING

1 pound stale bread crumbs.
1 cup scalded milk.
1 pound sugar.
1/2 pound seeded raisins, cut in pieces and floured.
1/2 pound seedless raisins.
1/2 pound finely chopped figs.
2 cups finely cut citron.
1 pound suet.
1/2 cup wine, current jelly or grape juice.
1/2 cup grated nutmeg.
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.
one-third teaspoon clove.
one-third teaspoon mace.
1 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Soak bread crumbs in milk, let stand until cool, add sugar, beaten egg yolks, raisins, figs and citron. Chop suet and work with hands until creamy. Combine mixtures, add wine, current jelly or grape juice, nutmeg, cinnamon, clove, mace and egg whites beaten stiff. Steam six hours. Serve with hard sauce.

Stretching the Butter Supply

We are told that all fats, butter included, will still continue to be somewhat scarce for the next several months, so, naturally, wise homemakers are still interested in stretching their butter supply. Here are several very practical ways:

Cut the butter in individual servings before placing on table. When butter is to be served as a seasoning for vegetables melt a little and serve it in a pitcher on the table so that each person may pour some on his own serving.

Hot cakes and waffles naturally require butter and syrup. Now that both are somewhat scarce, heat the syrup and melt butter in it to pour over the pancakes or waffles as they

THIS week's ration fashion calls for an expenditure of two coupons and sixteen tokens. The sixteen tokens are equivalent to two coupons, so that full use is made of the four coupons available each week in a family of four.

If Sunday brings a dinner guest, the rolled shoulder of lamb could be elasticized with your favorite dressing and a tempting brown gravy. The left-overs will provide the wherewithal for the lamb pie suggested for Tuesday's dinner. A pound of hamburger stretched with soft bread crumbs will make a meat loaf which can be served hot on Monday and sliced cold for Tuesday's luncheon. You may find you have some left-overs to spare from the roast or loaf which can be added to a spaghetti dish for Wednesday's lunch when sausages will be used for dinner. Braised veal cutlets for Thursday and fish appears on the Friday menu. For Saturday liver will provide a nutrition-enriching and ration-sparing meal, leaving you with four tokens to devote to half a pound of bacon, or to carry over as a contribution to the next week's roast.

Keep the main supply of butter wrapped in its original paraffined paper carton in the refrigerator to prevent its absorbing other food odors. Bits of left-over butter should be stored in a tightly-covered dish in the refrigerator for the same reason.

Says Prefabricated Houses Expensive

VANCOUVER, Nov. 22 (CP).—Miss Helen Alford of London, England, manager of the Metropolitan borough of Fulham, said here today that Britain has stopped building prefabricated houses because they proved more expensive than expected.

Miss Alford, who is touring Canada under the auspices of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, said Britain now is building nothing but permanent homes.

"Britain's prefabricated houses total 120,000 and her goal under the new plan is between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 within ten years."

The bidding:
West North East South
1 ♠ Double Red'ble 1 ♠
1 ♥ Pass 1 N.T. Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Double Pass

Before we get around to what happened to South at his dubious diamond contract, it is worth observing that a great many players in East's position would have lost the chance to let anything bad happen to the opponents! With a very "respectable" holding opposite an opening bid, and with one eye glued to the 60 part score, they would rush to game then and there, rather than one no-trump or with a diamond of new workable gold deposits.

North would take out the double to that suit and then it would be impossible to investigate the potential diamond fit. North, for his part, realized that his delayed raise to two diamonds was "monkeying with the buzz-saw," but he could scarcely foresee how bad things would be at that comparatively low contract.

West, co-operating nobly with his partner's penalty double, opened a trump, and when East put him back on lead with a club, he again led through the diamond king, permitting East to draw all the trumps. It was easy, after that, for the defenders to take every trick except one heart, one spade and one club.

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP).—Gold Bullion to the value of about £300,000 (1,215,000) was exported from Kenya last year. The gold was available from long-established mines, but the future of the industry depends to a large extent on the discovery of new workable gold deposits.

BASEBALL CONTEST WILL CLOSE SATURDAY NIGHT

With more than 1,000 entries submitted and more expected before the deadline tomorrow, officials of the Victoria Baseball & Athletic Company, Ltd., sponsors of the local entry in the Western International Baseball League, last night expressed themselves as more than pleased with the success of their contest to select a suitable name for Victoria's professional baseball team.

Laurel Harney, manager of the local district position, announced yesterday that the contest, which opened on October 24 will definitely close tomorrow, and all entries bearing a November 24 postmark will be eligible.

"We have a large selection of names and as soon as the competition closes will get to the job of picking the winning entry. We realize it will be quite a task and will take considerable time. However, we will make our decision as early as possible as we fully appreciate the interest displayed in the competition by members of the Victoria Baseball & Athletic Company."

Entries marked "Baseball Name Contest" should be mailed to the sports department of this newspaper not later than Saturday night in order to qualify for the prize. Two box seat tickets at all home league games of the Victoria team.

CAGE OFFICIALS DOING
A REALLY SWELL JOB

Officials of the Victoria and District Basketball Association are to be congratulated on their success in looking top-flight cage quarters for inter-city exhibitions, but the sad part about the whole show is the definite lack of a gymnasium capable of seating large crowds.

Limitations have been set by the school board on the number permitted to be accommodated at games played at the Victoria High School gymnasium, and while we may disagree with the actual figures we are not going to criticize the action of the board.

The unfortunate thing about the whole matter is the fact that the basketball officials have to put equally as much promotional effort into the fixtures for the smaller attendances, as they would for three times as many people if the proper accommodation was obtainable. It seems regrettable that a city of this size lacks a building suitable for basketball and capable of seating at least 4,500 fans.

Along about the middle of January the Victoria Gladiators are slated to visit the city for a series of exhibition games. With the limited facilities many ardent basketball fans will not be afforded the opportunity of seeing the clever colored hoopers in action. Perhaps it would be a good plan to make an effort to get the Bay Street Armoury for the visit of the Trojans.

We understand from good authority that the famous Edmonton Grads played in the Bay Street Drill Hall some years ago and attracted 1,500. The Trojans would probably draw almost double that number under similar circumstances. How about it Mr. Temple?

Game Is Highlight of Tomorrow's Football
Program—Nanaimo Opposes Toppers Sunday

Well out in front of the pack in the Victoria and District Football League standings and still boasting an undefeated record, Victoria Wests will have to be at the top of their form to hold their five-point advantage this week-end. The Green-shirts tangle with the always dangerous Navy eleven, while the second-place V.M.D. club have a softer touch in the much abused Canadian Legion in the other game of a Saturday double-header. First game will be played at Heywood Avenue, with the Legion and the shipyarders meeting at Royal Athletic Park. Both games start at 2:30 p.m.

On Sunday, at Royal Athletic Park, the clever Nanaimo squad will attempt to make up some ground against the speedy Toppers in the third of three week-end games.

Wests will be at full strength for their match against the sailors except for Vince Clarkson, who is expected to be in Vancouver with the Mustangs. Joe Travis will take over in goal in his stead. Allan Reside and Noel Morgan will both be out along with Gordie Cooper and Murray Speller to give the leaders a well-rounded starting line-up.

Navy are expected to be without the services of Wares, former West Ham United player, and Smith, high scoring centre-forward, but can be counted on to field a clever club.

Fighting their way into second place after a disastrous start, Man-

Mustangs to Travel for Final Match

Making their second away-from-home appearance, Victoria Mustangs leave tonight for Vancouver, where they meet an All-Star High School squad tomorrow in their last game of the season.

Marking the end of their first full season in football, Mustangs have played seven games, winning three and losing four to date, and are anxious to wind up the season with a win to balance the victories with the defeats. Although enjoying only mediocre success, Mustangs at times played good football and set the stage for the return of senior football next year with many of the present club being counted on to move up.

Mustangs dropped one-touchdown decisions to powerful clubs from Roseville High School, Port Angeles, O'Dea College, Vancouver College, and were swamped by Kitsano High School for their only bad loss of the season. On the winning side, the locals downed Rabi Mattus, Vancouver Blue Bombers twice and handed the Major Red Devils their first loss of the season last Saturday.

Coches Bill Bishop and Jim Smith last night named a squad of 22 players for the Vancouver game. Wallis Smith, trainer, and Jerry Ready, team manager, will also make the trip. Players named were: Cole, O'Connell, Worsley and Kinsinger, ends; Brown, Quest and Konkin, tackles; Clarkson, Turner, Lott and Barry, guards; Moonen and Slang, centres; Rynski and Harper, quarterbacks; Joyce, Ross, French and Mitchell, halves; Denoni and Pegu, fullbacks, and O'Brien, blocking back.

SEASON TICKETS

Ivan Temple, secretary of the Victoria and District Basketball Association, announced last night that all season tickets must be returned not later than December 5.

Dominoes to Meet Varsity
Cage Squad

Built around Sandy Robertson and reputed to be one of their strongest clubs in recent years, University of British Columbia Thunderbirds will provide the opposition for Victoria Dominoes at the High School on Saturday night in a game which has cage fans eagerly awaiting a comparison of the two clubs who are likely to meet in the provincial finals next Spring.

In their recent two-game series with the University of Oregon Wildcats, in which they dropped 55-50 and 49-35 decisions—to the Northern Conference titleholders, the Thunderbirds made an impressive showing. Howard Hobson, Oregon coach, singled out Robertson and Ron Weber for special mention and these two players will be watching tomorrow.

Gordie Sykes, Pat McGeer and Kerneide starred here last year in the provincial senior "A" finals and are valuable members of the Varsity. Reg Clarkson, versatile local athlete, will also be in action, with Nicoll Henderson, Franklin and the lowering Ole Bakken rounding out the ten-man squad.

Dominoes, who dropped a close decision to the Alpines a week ago, will be strengthened by the re-appearance of Doug Peden and will have benefited from the stiff competition. Bushier Jackson, suffering from sore ribs, is expected to be able to start.

Undeafed this season, Hudson's Bay will attempt to preserve their record in the opener when they clash with the Eagles in a women's section fixture. First game will start at 7:30 p.m., with the feature billed for 8:45 p.m.

Soviet Footballers
Defeat Arsenal, 4-3

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP).—A busy brown for rolled in over London to prevent 54,000 football fans from getting a good look at Moscow Dynamo as the touring Russian club defeated Arsenal, 4-3.

Spectators could not see what was happening on the field and hundreds left at half-time. Some of these crowded around radios in cafes and at coffee stands but even the announcer admitted he could not tell what was going on. Even the players were baffled.

Soccer Leaders
Meet Tomorrow

First and second-berth occupants respectively, Oak Bay and Signal Hill, will battle in the feature match on tomorrow's Second Division Football League program, with top slot in the standings at stake. The match will be played at Bullen Park.

Navy, one point back of Signal Hill, will be at home to the cellar-dwelling Saanich Indians at Bullen Park.

Kick-offs are billed for 2:30 p.m. Oak Bay line-up follows: Lamb, Swanson, Newman, Latham, Witmer, Codville, Burdge, Richards, Thompson, Robinson, Holding and Knappett.

CAPITALS WIN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22 (AP).—Indianapolis Capitals added two more points to their lead in the Western Division of the American Hockey League by defeating New Haven Eagles, 7-4, here tonight before 2,100 holiday fans.

Speakers could not see what was happening on the field and hundreds left at half-time. Some of these crowded around radios in cafes and at coffee stands but even the announcer admitted he could not tell what was going on. Even the players were baffled.

Argos Favorites in Eastern Grid Final

TORONTO, Nov. 22 (CP).—

Football clucked their tongues today, shook their heads sadly and agreed almost unanimously that Argonauts will "murder" Beavers when the two Toronto teams meet in Saturday's Eastern-Canada final at Varsity Stadium.

They pictured the East-West preliminary as one of those tangle conflicts between irresistible force and immovable object—and this time, they forecast, the force really will be irresistible.

Their leaning toward Argos was reflected in pregame speculation which made Coach Ted Morris' Big Four champions 8-5 favorites to qualify for the Grey Cup final. Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Western Canada champions, announced last night they will arrive here early next week to prepare for the national final, December 1.

Lake Hill Squad
Holds Top Berth

With only one more game left in the first half of the schedule, Lake Hill Canton protected their lead at the top of the senior standings in the Victoria Table Tennis Association when they defeated Gonzales.

22-14. Doug Robinson and Keith Olsen led the way with eight and seven wins, respectively.

Other games were closely contested with Robinson's Grocery, Painters and Comets taking the points from Macdonald Electric, Giants and Aces, in that order, by identical 19-17 scores.

Teams and scores follow:

Cowley, Bentley
In Second Berth

Bill Cowley drew an assist Wednesday night as Boston Bruins shut out Montreal Canadiens, 3-0, and the Boston centre star pulled into a tie with Max Bentley, of Chicago Black Hawks, for second place among the leading National Hockey League scorers.

Cowley and Bentley have 12 points each, two behind Montreal's Toe Blake, who was held scoreless. Other scoring leaders were:

The leaders: G. A. Pish

Bentley, Chicago 9 3 12
Cowley, Boston 7 5 12

Only once before in the history of the most valuable voting in the junior circuit had a player won the crown two years running. Jimmy Fox did in 1932 and 1933. He also won it in 1934. Joe D'Maggio, Lou Gehrig, Hank Greenberg, Mickey Cochrane and Walter Johnson, each was honored twice but not in successive seasons.

Newhouse matched his 1944 point total of 236, receiving nine first place votes from the 24 writers, three representing each city in the league. May's 164 points just shaded George Stinnes of New York, who drew 161 for coping the batting title at .309, and showing the way with 33 stolen bases.

Dave Ferris, Boston's freshman phenomenon who won 21 games, was a strong fourth with 148 points, followed by George Mott—key man in Washington's pennant drive that just did fall short. Myatt had 98 votes to 94 for Vern Stephens, of St. Louis.

Roger Wolff, knuckle-balling ace of Washington, took seventh place with 78 points to 79 for Manager Lou Boudreau, of Cleveland. George Case, of the Senators followed in ninth position with 60 and Paul Richards, Detroit catcher, rounded out the first 10 with 35 points.

New York Rangers
And Chicago Black
Hawks in 3-3 Tie

Alex Shibicky Fires Home All-Important
Goal in Final Period—Two Games Tonight

HOW THEY STAND Goals minutes later, Shibicky touched his second goal past Karakas to tie the count, with Judd getting an assist.

SUMMARY
First Period—1. New York, Demarco (Brown), 7:45; 2. Chicago, D. Bentley (Mariucci, Kalela), 13:34. Penalties: Kuntz, Mosienko, Judda (major), Mariucci (major), Watson (ten-minute misconduct), Mos.

Second Period—3. New York, Shibicky (Laprade), 5:28. Penalties: Wares (2), Mos.

Third Period—4. Chicago, M. Bentley (Mosienko), 11:46; 5. Chicago, D. Bentley (Mosienko), 14:08; 6. New York, Shibicky (Judda), 16:12. Penalties: D. Bentley, Judda (major), Mariucci (major), Watson (ten-minute misconduct), Mos.

Next games, tonight: Detroit at Canadiens; Rangers at Toronto.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22 (AP).—The last-place New York Rangers virtually skated a slow Chicago Black Hawks team off its feet for two periods tonight and then, after dropping behind in the final period, snapped back in the last four minutes to gain a 3-3 tie.

The Rangers did not allow the Chicagoans to take the lead until late in the final period when the Black Hawks took advantage of penalties. Trailing 2-1, Chicago swept into a 3-2 lead in less than a minute and a half. Two minutes later the Rangers tied the count. The tie put New York in fifth-place with Toronto.

A Thanksgiving holiday crowd of 13,983 saw the National Hockey League encounter.

Both teams turned sluggish after a fast five minutes of play. Poor passes brought interceptions by both teams, much of the play remaining in mid-air.

At other times, Goalies Mike Karakas, of the Hawks, and Jim Henry, of the Rangers, took a terrific pounding as defenses on both sides seemed to disintegrate, and every play ended at the mouth of the net.

Ab Demarco started the scoring after seven minutes and 45 seconds, with Brown getting an assist. Six minutes later Doug Bentley countered for the Hawks on a pass from Mariucci and Kalela.

In the second period, it took the Rangers but five minutes and 28 seconds to get back in the lead, with Alex Shibicky scoring.

Then came the final period, embellished by a fight in which nearly every player, as well as all three officials, took part.

Mariucci and Bill Judd drew major penalties for fighting, and Phil Watson, of New York, a ten-minute penalty for misconduct.

The Hawks swarmed over the Rangers, with Max Bentley and Doug Bentley each scoring to give Chicago a momentary lead. Two

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 22 (CP).—Rye futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today declined in dull trading. Most of the dealings were in initial trade when local and some selling accredited to American support appeared with thin support. Losses were further extended on lack of support but dealings were stagnant most of the session. The holiday in the United States contributed to lack of outside interest in the market.

At the close prices were 5-8 to 2 cents lower with December $1.90 1/4-5; May $1.68 7/8-9; and July $1.80 1/4-5.

Approximately 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat was sold to the United Kingdom but that was the only export business reported.

Famous China Ready to Ship

PAKING Nov. 22.—Shipments of carefully packed Limoges china, famous the world over, will soon be crossing the Atlantic again, addressed to Canada and the United States. In recently signed agreements the manufacturers of this delicate china have obtained the coal to re-fire their kilns.

During the occupation the industry had shut down almost completely even though the Nazis, who considered the city a great prize, deluged it with extravagant orders. Orders became demands, and demands became threats, but production dropped steadily and Limoges designers conveniently forgot their art.

Limoges became a world centre for making china and porcelains in the 18th century because of the rich deposits of china clay in nearby Saint-Victor. Before the war there were more than 36 factories established there employing 13,000 workers, including 3,000 artists in porcelain and china painting.

Keep Soup Stock In Covered Jars

By HELEN BANNERMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, Nov. 22 (CP).—The soup pot which simmered constantly on the back of the stove and had scraps of meat, bones and left-over vegetables added day by day, disappeared with the coming of the gas and electric stoves, but these days economy in the use of meat demands that every bit of its goodness be utilized . . . so make soup before the bones are finally discarded.

Soup stock spoils quickly and, since there is often more soup than can be used at one meal, it is essential to keep it from spoiling. Laura Pepper, Agriculture Department, Consumer Section chief, suggests:

"If the stock is not to be used immediately, allow it to cool slightly, then place it in covered sealers for a week or longer if it is heated to the boiling point every other day, then partly cooled and returned to the ice box. The alternate heating and refrigeration prevent spoilage."

Onion Soup: This gourmet's delight is not all hard to prepare and is guaranteed to become a family favorite. You will require six medium onions, sliced; two tablespoons of mild-flavored fat, two tablespoons of flour, two-thirds cup of milk, one quart of well-seasoned bouillon, six slices of toast and one-half cup of grated cheese.

Cook the onions in boiling water to cover for 30 minutes, then rub through a sieve. Melt fat, blend in flour and gradually add the milk, stirring until thickened. Add sieved onions and bouillon, blending well. Simmer 30 minutes. Place a slice of toast in each soup plate, add soup and sprinkle with grated cheese. This makes about a quart of soup, sufficient for six servings.

My Neighbor Says:

Lemon butter sauce is good served on cabbage or cauliflower. Blend two parts melted butter with one part lemon juice and serve hot over cooked cabbage or cauliflower.

Saanich Court Cases

A charge against G. H. Dowding, Vancouver, of dangerous driving, arising out of a collision between a truck and a locomotive at the Burnside Road crossing on October 30, was dismissed by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court yesterday.

Constable John Hamilton said the collision resulted in approximately $150 damage to the C.N.R. locomotive, and considerable damage to the right side of the light panel.

Dr. A. J. Garesche pleaded not guilty to a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident, and was granted a remand to Thursday to obtain witnesses.

Seven persons admitted having no radio licences, and were each fined $1. Magistrate Hall imposed costs of $2.50 in each case. One man failed to appear in answer to a similar charge, and a warrant will be issued on proof of service of the summons.

A driver who failed to halt at a stop sign was fined $5. The magistrate suspended sentence in the case of a member of the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F., who was driving without a speedometer. The charge was exceeding the speed limit in a school zone.

Murder-Suicide Verdict in London Military Car Deaths

LONDON, Nov. 22 (CP).—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of murder and suicide in the death of Cpt. Emmanuel Ward Hartley, 46, of Winnipeg, and his 21-year-old English wife, Daphne Ruth, whose bodies were found last Saturday in a parked military car on Barnes Common.

The jury found Mrs. Hartley murdered and Hartley, a Canadian Legion War Services supervisor, committed suicide. Their deaths were due to bullet wounds.

In summing up, the coroner said a note left by Hartley indicated an agreement between her and his wife to end their lives. However, the coroner said that even if that were so "if a man shoots his wife there is only one verdict and that is murder."

conclusion there was no such agreement between them," he added. "You will probably come to the conclusion that Mrs. Hartley was simply shot from the back without agreeing or knowing such a course was being taken."

He said evidence showed Hartley had been in financial difficulties for some time.

A police inspector described finding the bodies with Mrs. Hartley slumped in the front seat while Hartley was in the rear. Hartley's note was addressed to "his wife's father—Alderman Robert Harry Goodwin, of Kent, said said:

"We decided this was the only way for everyone's happiness. Please don't blame us and try to forgive us even though you never forget murder." Daphne is too upset to sign.
